

Over the lifespan, the average societal cost of caring for 1 person with autism is $3.2 million. (Harvard School of Public Health, 2006)

Now, 17 quarters can change that.

Autism Speaks thanks the following members of the Florida House of Representatives for supporting HB 1291. This bill will end insurance discrimination for children with autism and provide them with the medically necessary health coverage they need, dramatically reducing the long-term cost of care to society.
