

Before voting on Nick's Law,
House Speaker Chris Bengtson wants to know how much it will cost to end healthcare discrimination against Children with AUTISM.

Mr. Speaker,
we checked our pockets.
It's 7 Quarters to be exact.*

Oklahoma Insurance companies have discriminated against children with autism for more than a decade, preventing them from accessing the medically necessary, evidence-based treatments and therapies they need. A 2006 Harvard Study indicates that over the lifespan, the average societal cost of caring for one person with autism is $3.2 million. Nick's Law will end that discrimination with a common cents approach costing insurance customers very little and saving taxpayers millions, dramatically reducing the long-term cost of care to society.

CALL SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE CHRIS BENGTSON
TODAY AT 405-557-7340

Ask him to let Nick's Law go to the House floor of the Oklahoma Legislature for a vote. Then, call your Representative and ask them to call the Speaker.

www.AutismVotes.org
It's time for Lawmakers to listen.

*For the complete report, visit www.autismvotes.org/oklahoma.